BEST PRACTICES FOR SENDING SYMPATHY ORDERS

Funeral Home and Sympathy Orders

- Funeral orders are different than sympathy:
 - Funeral orders include large sprays that are for service or cemetery only, and should not be sent to the home.
 - Sympathy orders are delivered to the home of a family member.
- Many funeral homes cannot accept food deliveries. Fruit baskets and gourmet baskets should always be sent to the recipient's home or office. It is best to check with the funeral director for the appropriate protocol.
- Ordering a minimum of six business hours prior to the start of the service time is recommended. If ordering less than six business hours before the service, sending the gift to the home or office is highly recommended.
- The florist should always notify the funeral director of any delivery made to the funeral home, especially those that are close to the time of the service.
- The florist should always notify the funeral director that the flowers are in the designated flower room once delivered so they can be put out for viewing in a timely manner.
- Items delivered via FedEx or UPS are not recommended for funeral services due to assembly requirements.
- Florist should confirm funeral services, the correct spelling of the name of the deceased, exact date, visitation times and location (some funeral homes have multiple locations) to ensure no mistakes occur.
- Deliver funeral arrangements on time to allow placement of all sympathy tributes.

Funeral Home and Sympathy Orders

The type of arrangement the customer should send is traditionally determined by his/her relationship to the departed:

IMMEDIATE FAMILY - Larger floral tributes such as casket sprays, standing sprays, set pieces and small casket adornments such as pillows or hearts are traditionally selected by immediate family members. If the customer wishes to provide this kind of tribute, he/she should consult the family before sending the gift.

EXTENDED FAMILY - Extended family members can consider a wreath on a standing easel. Another lovely option would be a set piece, such as a broken heart, bleeding heart or cross. If possible, coordinate the color and style with the casket spray and larger floral tributes for a unified, tasteful appearance.

GROUP OF FRIENDS/COLLEAGUES/CORPORATE - If sending a gift to express sympathy as part of a group of co-workers, friends or on behalf of the company, a floral wreath, standing spray, basket arrangement or bouquet are all graceful selections.

CLOSE FRIEND OR COLLEAGUE - A floral bouquet or blooming plants are excellent for expressing sympathy for a close friend or colleague. These are typically set on an end table or on the floor around the casket to add warmth and beauty to the service. They have the added benefit of being portable, so the family can take them home and enjoy their comfort and solace after the service is over.

Minimum commitment of one billable month is required. After initial promotional period regular fees will begin.
